NMMI COVID Situation Update: Daily Update and FAQ’s

ACADEMICS:
A question from a parent was asked concerning private tutors. The Dean responded that independent private tutoring is continuing during the quarantine period, just not in person. Parents and Cadets are encouraged to arrange for private instruction, online by Zoom, Microsoft Teams or Webex, whatever platform a tutor may have access to. Also, Cadets are able to use Tutor.com. Tutor.com was introduced to Cadets in August.

ATHLETICS:
Nothing significant has changed in Athletics since the last update. A reminder to High School Parents and Junior College Parents: right now, all sports are to be played during the second semester. The New Mexico Athletic Association (NMAA) and the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) have moved all sports to the spring semester. This semester all athletes by sport were allowed to work out together and practice, but competition was not allowed. Today, the NJCAA announced they will follow the lead of the NCAA and not count this year for eligibility purposes. So, when we are allowed to play competitive games in the spring, the individual athlete will not be charged a year of eligibility.

COMMANDANT:
The quantity of “care packages” has increased dramatically during the quarantine period. A reminder to Parents: cadets are allowed to check their mail every other day, except on the weekends when the only thing accessible to the Cadets is their individual mailbox for letters and postcards. Our Post Office is not open on the weekends. If you send a care package that has perishable items or time sensitive items, please let your Cadet and/or their TLA know. There should not be more than one day during the week that would pass without your Cadet having the ability to pick up any care package.

ADMINISTRATION:
We have been diligently coordinating with the various state agencies to develop a new return to campus policy for those students who are quarantining at home. We have discussed several possibilities with them and believe we will have the issue settled so we can review return protocols in tomorrow’s update.

Respectfully,

Jerry Grizzle
